LPL FINANCIAL FIRM BROCHURE - BANK WEALTH PROGRAM (BWP)

ITEM 4 ADVISORY BUSINESS

Introduction

LPL Financial LLC ("LPL") is an investment advisor registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") pursuant to the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. LPL has provided advisory services as a registered investment advisor since 1975. Note that registration as an investment advisor with the SEC does not imply a certain level of skill or training. As of December 31, 2017, LPL managed approximately $114,601,637,000 of client assets on a discretionary basis and approximately $2,646,195,000 of client assets on a non-discretionary basis. LPL is owned 100% by LPL Holdings, Inc., which is owned 100% by LPL Financial Holdings Inc., a publicly held company.

Types of Advisory Services

LPL offers various types of advisory services and programs, including wrap fee programs, mutual fund asset allocation programs, advisory programs offered by third party investment advisor firms, financial planning services, an advisor-enhanced digital advice program, and retirement plan consulting services. This Brochure provides a description of the advisory services offered under LPL's Bank Wealth Program ("BWP"). For more information about LPL's advisory services and programs other than BWP, please contact LPL for a copy of a similar brochure that describes such service or program or go to www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

BWP is a program offered by LPL to clients that are banks, corporate trustees, thrifts, trust companies, broker-dealers, investment advisors, and other financial institutions ("Financial Institution") and offers various levels of investment advisory, technology, research and back office services to those clients. LPL acts as a service provider to Financial Institutions who then choose how to use the LPL services and how to shape the advice and services they are providing to each end client ("Client") of the Financial Institution.

The BWP program is an open architecture program allowing flexibility to the Financial Institution to use the available LPL services to design the best service for their Client. Financial Institutions choose which components they wish to use within BWP. There are four basic components of BWP:

- 1. Technology: BWP Technology includes access to a user portal to create and deliver Client proposals, investor questionnaires and reporting.
- 2. Research: BWP Research is made available through the LPL Research Department. LPL's Research Department makes available investment research materials, which include recommendations on asset allocation, separate account strategies, mutual funds, and ETFs. When LPL provides investment research, LPL makes no analysis of and does not consider Clients' individual circumstances or objectives, and does not tailor any model asset allocation to any specific client's needs, circumstances or objectives. The BWP Research offering consists of:
 - Manager due diligence on a selected list of available managers including managers available within the BWP UMA (detailed below) and separately managed account managers accessed through BWP technology. It is important to note that LPL does not perform, and has no obligation to perform, due diligence or other research with respect to investment managers or funds that are not on LPL's current Recommended Manager Line-Up Sheet ("Non-Covered Managers"), even if Performance Reports prepared by LPL include data provided by such Non-Covered Managers.
 - Asset allocation creation and oversight by LPL Research.
 - A set list of deliverables created by LPL Research for Financial Institution use.
 - Access to economic commentary and capital markets research.
 - Access to LPL's "Portfolio Designer" system for client investment planning.
 - Access to the LPL Financial Portal, a web based tool to access research investment information, client performance results, client portfolio accounting and other consulting information.

LPL FINANCIAL FIRM BROCHURE - BANK WEALTH PROGRAM (BWP)

3. Trade Implementation and Portfolio Management

- SMA Program: LPL will provide access to a platform through which the Financial Institution may engage third-party managers (“Portfolio Managers”) who will direct and manage the client accounts. Financial Institutions may choose to implement investment decisions by designating the client accounts as SMA accounts and completing the required paperwork to process those accounts with SMA managers. LPL will facilitate the delivery of the required paperwork to the SMA managers for the designated SMA accounts.
- UMA Program: Alternatively, Financial Institution can choose to implement investment decisions through the LPL platform using centralized portfolio management in the UMA program.
 - The BWP UMA program is a unified management account program that combines managed accounts comprised of individual securities, mutual funds and ETFs in one diversified portfolio. LPL acts as the Sponsor, otherwise known as the Investment Manager, of the UMA program. LPL may also act in other capacities within the program as detailed below. Additionally, third parties may also participate in the programs as Research Providers or Overlay Managers as detailed below.
 - A Financial Institution whose Client participates in the UMA establishes a discretionary account that is invested in a manner consistent with one of several multi-manager, multi-asset allocation strategies created by LPL or by the Financial Institution.
 - Specifically, responsibilities for management of accounts participating in the UMA are divided as follows:
 - LPL and/or the Financial Institution are responsible for the creation of a series of models with varying asset allocations and risk profiles. The Financial Institution is responsible for recommending which model(s) a Client may invest in. To create the models, LPL conducts initial and ongoing due diligence on investment advisers known as Research Providers that provide their own model portfolio allocations. LPL will also conduct due diligence on and recommend ETFs and mutual funds for models. It is the Financial Institution who makes the final recommendation to the client with regard to which models they should invest in.
 - LPL may also act as a Research Provider in the BWP UMA program. In cases where LPL acts as a Research Provider its services as such are provided in addition to the other services provided by LPL, and LPL shall be entitled to collect fees from Financial Institutions for such services.
 - LPL also acts as the overlay manager in the BWP UMA program to implement investment decisions made by Financial Institutions. Please note, in some instances Fortigent, LLC, an affiliated company of LPL Financial, may act as the Overlay Manager. Financial Institutions should consult their agreement with LPL Financial to determine who is acting as the Overlay Manager. The duties and obligations of the Overlay Manager remain the same as described below when Fortigent, LLC is acting as the Overlay Manager. As the Overlay Manager, LPL (or Fortigent, LLC) is responsible for making discretionary trading decisions to implement the models in the BWP UMA program. The Overlay Manager may execute transactions according to its tax efficient management strategy, which may cause it to delay or defer causing the account to mirror its applicable model. Accordingly, the Overlay Manager may take actions for certain accounts that it does not for other accounts, even when such accounts are all intended to be managed to the same model. The Overlay Manager is responsible for providing periodic rebalancing services so the allocation of these accounts remains consistent with the selected model(s). Unless otherwise directed by a Financial Institution and/or Client, Overlay Manager is responsible for seeking best execution on transactions for BWP UMA accounts. The Overlay Manager may take actions for certain accounts that it does not take for other accounts (e.g., for example, in the case of investment restrictions imposed on an account), even when such accounts are intended to be managed according to the same model portfolio. It is important to note that third party Research Providers for the BWP UMA program provide models to LPL, and it is LPL that has discretion for trade implementation and execution in its BWP accounts. Therefore, models submitted to LPL by third party Research Providers may represent activity that has already been implemented on behalf of other clients of such Research Providers. Because of this fact and because LPL

(and not the third party Research Provider) has discretionary authority to implement trades, performance of an BWP account will differ from the performance of such Research Provider's discretionary accounts.

- Notwithstanding the above, Financial Institutions are responsible for the implementation and coordination of any fixed income securities in UMA accounts.

4. Back Office Services: To the extent agreed upon by LPL and Financial Institution, LPL may perform back office functions on behalf of the Financial Institution including, but not limited to, Client fee calculation and processing.

ITEM 5 FEES AND COMPENSATION

Financial Institutions pay a fee set forth in the agreement between the Financial Institution and LPL. The base fee is typically a percentage of the assets held in each SMA or UMA account, as applicable. The fee varies depending on which investment model the Financial Institution chooses, for example, its own model, an LPL, or a third party manager model. If the base fee falls below a minimum amount, which is set forth in the agreement and varies by Financial Institution, the Financial Institution is still responsible for paying the minimum amount. Additional fees are charged for additional services, such as tax management services or strategist services. BWP also may provide reporting services on brokerage accounts, and a flat annual fee is charged for such services.

ITEM 6 PERFORMANCE BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

This Item is not applicable. LPL does not accept performance-based fees.

ITEM 7 TYPES OF CLIENTS

LPL's BWP program offers services to Financial Institution clients only. At this time, BWP is only for use by Financial Institutions.

Except as detailed in the agreement between LPL and the Financial Institution, LPL does not require a minimum asset amount for Financial Institutions to participate in BWP.

ITEM 8 METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

The Financial Institution has access to various research reports and model portfolios to which they may refer in determining investment advice provided to Clients. The Financial Institution chooses the research methods, investment style and management philosophy. It is important to note that no methodology or investment strategy is guaranteed to be successful or profitable.

LPL's Research Department makes recommendations regarding asset allocation, mutual funds, ETFs and money managers. Financial Institutions may or may not follow these recommendations in providing investment advice. LPL Research also constructs asset allocation model portfolios and provides recommendations on the funds and research providers to populate those models. In constructing these models, LPL Research will work with Financial Institutions to customize models and allocations per their specific guidelines.

Types of Investments and Risks

Depending on the type of service being provided, LPL can recommend different types of securities whose underlying investments may include mutual funds, unit investment trusts ("UITs"), closed end funds, ETFs, collective investment trusts, equities, fixed income securities, options, hedge funds, managed futures, and structured products. Investing in securities involves the risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Described below are some risks associated with investing and with some types of investments, or underlying investments of recommended investment, that LPL may recommend depending on the service provided.

- Market Risk. This is the risk that the value of securities owned by an investor may go up or down, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably, due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries.
- Interest Rate Risk. This is the risk that fixed income securities will decline in value because of an increase in interest rates; a bond or a fixed income fund with a longer duration will be more sensitive to changes in interest rates than a bond or bond fund with a shorter duration.

LPL FINANCIAL FIRM BROCHURE - BANK WEALTH PROGRAM (BWP)

- Credit Risk. This is the risk that an investor could lose money if the issuer or guarantor of a fixed income security is unable or unwilling to meet its financial obligations.
- Issuer-Specific Risk. This is the risk that the value of an individual security or particular type of security can be more volatile than the market as a whole and can perform differently from the value of the market as a whole.
- Investment Company Risk. To the extent an investor invests in ETFs or other investment companies, performance will be affected by the performance of those other investment companies. Investments in ETFs and other investment companies are subject to the risks of the investment companies' investments, as well as to the investment companies' expenses. If an investor invests in other investment companies, the investor may receive distributions of taxable gains from portfolio transactions by that investment company and may recognize taxable gains from transactions in shares of that investment company, which would be taxable when distributed.
- Concentration Risk. To the extent an investor concentrates its investments by investing a significant portion of its assets in the securities of a single issuer, industry, sector, country or region, the overall adverse impact on the investor of adverse developments in the business of such issuer, such industry or such government could be considerably greater than if the investor did not concentrate its investments to such an extent.
- Sector Risk. To the extent an investor invests more heavily in particular sectors, industries, or sub-sectors of the market, performance will be especially sensitive to developments that significantly affect those sectors, industries, or sub-sectors. An individual sector, industry, or sub-sector of the market may be more volatile, and may perform differently, than the broader market. The several industries that constitute a sector may all react in the same way to economic, political or regulatory events. Performance could be affected if the sectors, industries, or sub-sectors do not perform as expected. Alternatively, the lack of exposure to one or more sectors or industries may adversely affect performance.
- Alternative Strategy Mutual Funds. Certain mutual funds invest primarily in alternative investments and/or strategies. Investing in alternative investments and/or strategies may not be suitable for all investors and involves special risks, such as risks associated with commodities, real estate, leverage, selling securities short, the use of derivatives, potential adverse market forces, regulatory changes and potential illiquidity. There are special risks associated with mutual funds that invest principally in real estate securities, such as sensitivity to changes in real estate values and interest rates and price volatility because of the fund's concentration in the real estate industry. These types of funds tend to have higher expense ratios than more traditional mutual funds. They also tend to be newer and have less of a track record or performance history.
- Closed-End/Interval Funds. Clients should be aware that closed-end funds available within the program may not give investors the right to redeem their shares, and a secondary market may not exist. Therefore, clients may be unable to liquidate all or a portion of their shares in these types of funds. While the fund may from time to time offer to repurchase shares, it is not obligated to do so (unless it has been structured as an "interval fund"). In the case of interval funds, the fund will provide limited liquidity to shareholders by offering to repurchase a limited amount of shares on a periodic basis, but there is no guarantee that clients will be able to sell all of the shares in any particular repurchase offer. The repurchase offer program may be suspended under certain circumstances.
- Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs). ETFs are typically investment companies that are legally classified as open end mutual funds or UITs. However, they differ from traditional mutual funds, in particular, in that ETF shares are listed on a securities exchange. Shares can be bought and sold throughout the trading day like shares of other publicly-traded companies. ETF shares may trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value. This difference between the bid price and the ask price is often referred to as the "spread." The spread varies over time based on the ETF's trading volume and market liquidity, and is generally lower if the ETF has a lot of trading volume and market liquidity and higher if the ETF has little trading volume and market liquidity. Although many ETFs are registered as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 like traditional mutual funds, some ETFs, in particular those that invest in commodities, are not registered as an investment company. ETFs may be closed and liquidated at the discretion of the issuing company.
- Exchange-Traded Notes (ETNs). An ETN is a senior unsecured debt obligation designed to track the total return of an underlying market index or other benchmark. ETNs may be linked to a variety of assets, for example, commodity futures, foreign currency and equities. ETNs are similar to ETFs in that they are listed on an exchange and can typically be bought or sold throughout the trading day. However, an ETN is not a mutual fund and does not have a net asset value; the ETN trades at the prevailing market price. Some of the more common risks of an ETN are as follows. The repayment of the principal, interest (if any), and the payment of any returns at maturity or upon redemption are dependent upon the ETN issuer's ability to pay. In addition, the trading price of the ETN in the secondary market may be adversely impacted if the issuer's credit rating is downgraded. The index or asset class for performance replication in an ETN may or may not be concentrated in a specific sector, asset class or country and may therefore carry specific risks. ETNs may be closed and liquidated at the discretion of the issuing company.

- Leveraged and Inverse ETFs, ETNs and Mutual Funds. Leveraged ETFs, ETNs and mutual funds, sometimes labeled "ultra" or "2x" for example, are designed to provide a multiple of the underlying index's return, typically on a daily basis. Inverse products are designed to provide the opposite of the return of the underlying index, typically on a daily basis. These products are different from and can be riskier than traditional ETFs, ETNs and mutual funds. Although these products are designed to provide returns that generally correspond to the underlying index, they may not be able to exactly replicate the performance of the index because of fund expenses and other factors. This is referred to as tracking error. Continual re-setting of returns within the product may add to the underlying costs and increase the tracking error. As a result, this may prevent these products from achieving their investment objective. In addition, compounding of the returns can produce a divergence from the underlying index over time, in particular for leveraged products. In highly volatile markets with large positive and negative swings, return distortions may be magnified over time. Some deviations from the stated objectives, to the positive or negative, are possible and may or may not correct themselves over time. To accomplish their objectives, these products use a range of strategies, including swaps, futures contracts and other derivatives. These products may not be diversified and can be based on commodities or currencies. These products may have higher expense ratios and be less tax-efficient than more traditional ETFs, ETNs and mutual funds.
- Options. Certain types of option trading are permitted in order to generate income or hedge a security held in the program account; namely, the selling (writing) of covered call options or the purchasing of put options on a security held in the program account. Client should be aware that the use of options involves additional risks. The risks of covered call writing include the potential for the market to rise sharply. In such case, the security may be called away and the program account will no longer hold the security. The risk of buying long puts is limited to the loss of the premium paid for the purchase of the put if the option is not exercised or otherwise sold by the program account.
- Structured Products. Structured products are securities derived from another asset, such as a security or a basket of securities, an index, a commodity, a debt issuance, or a foreign currency. Structured products frequently limit the upside participation in the reference asset. Structured products are senior unsecured debt of the issuing bank and subject to the credit risk associated with that issuer. This credit risk exists whether or not the investment held in the account offers principal protection. The creditworthiness of the issuer does not affect or enhance the likely performance of the investment other than the ability of the issuer to meet its obligations. Any payments due at maturity are dependent on the issuer's ability to pay. In addition, the trading price of the security in the secondary market, if there is one, may be adversely impacted if the issuer's credit rating is downgraded. Some structured products offer full protection of the principal invested, others offer only partial or no protection. Investors may be sacrificing a higher yield to obtain the principal guarantee. In addition, the principal guarantee relates to nominal principal and does not offer inflation protection. An investor in a structured product never has a claim on the underlying investment, whether a security, zero coupon bond, or option. There may be little or no secondary market for the securities and information regarding independent market pricing for the securities may be limited. This is true even if the product has a ticker symbol or has been approved for listing on an exchange. Tax treatment of structured products may be different from other investments held in the account (e.g., income may be taxed as ordinary income even though payment is not received until maturity). Structured CDs that are insured by the FDIC are subject to applicable FDIC limits.
- High-Yield Debt. High-yield debt is issued by companies or municipalities that do not qualify for "investment grade" ratings by one or more rating agencies. The below investment grade designation is based on the rating agency's opinion of an issuer that it has a greater risk to repay both principal and interest and a greater risk of default than those issuers rated investment grade. High yield debt carries greater risk than investment grade debt. There is the risk that the potential deterioration of an issuer's financial health and subsequent downgrade in its rating will result in a decline in market value or default. Because of the potential inability of an issuer to make interest and principal payments, an investor may receive back less than originally invested. There is also the risk that the bond's market value will decline as interest rates rise and that an investor will not be able to liquidate a bond before maturity.

- Hedge Funds and Managed Futures. Hedge and managed futures funds may be purchased by clients meeting certain qualification standards. Investing in these funds involves additional risks including, but not limited to, the risk of investment loss due to the use of leveraging and other speculative investment practices and the lack of liquidity and performance volatility. In addition, these funds are not required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors and may involve complex tax structures and delays in distributing important tax information. Client should be aware that these funds are not liquid as there is no secondary trading market available. At the absolute discretion of the issuer of the fund, there may be certain repurchase offers made from time to time. However, there is no guarantee that client will be able to redeem the fund during the repurchase offer.
- Business Development Companies (BDCs). BDCs are typically closed-end investment companies. Some BDCs primarily invest in the corporate debt and equity of private companies and may offer attractive yields generated through high credit risk exposures amplified through leverage. As with other high-yield investments, such as floating-rate/leveraged loan funds, private real estate investment trusts ("REITs") and limited partnerships, investors are exposed to significant market, credit and liquidity risks. In addition, fueled by the availability of low-cost financing, BDCs run the risk of over-leveraging their relatively illiquid portfolios. Due to the illiquid nature of non-traded BDCs, investors' exit opportunities may be limited only to periodic share repurchases by the BDC at high discounts.
- Variable Annuities. If client purchases a variable annuity that is part of the program, client will receive a prospectus and should rely solely on the disclosure contained in the prospectus with respect to the terms and conditions of the variable annuity. Client should also be aware that certain riders purchased with a variable annuity may limit the investment options and the ability to manage the subaccounts.
- Company Stock. If company stock is available as an investment option to client in a retirement plan, and if client chooses to invest in company stock, client should understand the risks associated with holding company stock in a retirement plan. These risks may include, but are not necessarily limited to, lack of liquidity, over-dependency on client's employer, and less flexibility to change the allocation of plan assets. Client should pay careful consideration to the benefits of a diversified portfolio. Although diversification is not a guarantee against loss, it can be an effective strategy to help manage investment risk.

ITEM 9 DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

As a broker-dealer, LPL transacts business in various types of securities, including mutual funds, stocks, bonds, commodities, options, private and public partnerships, variable annuities, real estate investment trusts and other investment products. LPL is registered to operate in all 50 states and has primarily an independent-contractor sales force of registered representatives and IARs dispersed throughout the United States. LPL has a dedicated team of employee IARs who service certain accounts in the absence of an IAR. IARs are registered representatives of LPL. If required for their positions with a registered broker-dealer, LPL's principal executive officers are securities licensed as registered representatives of LPL. IARs are required by applicable rules and policies to obtain licenses and complete certain training in order to recommend certain investment products and services. You should be aware that your IAR, depending on the licenses or training obtained, may or may not be able to recommend certain investments, models or services. Please ask your IAR about the investments, models and services he or she is licensed or qualified to sell. LPL is also registered as a transfer agent with the SEC and as an introducing broker with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. In addition, LPL is qualified to sell insurance products in all 50 states.

LPL and The Private Trust Company, N.A. ("PTC"), a federally chartered non-depository bank licensed to provide trust services in all 50 states, are related persons. PTC serves as IRA custodian for client accounts set up as IRAs and receives an annual maintenance fee for this service. PTC also provides personal trustee services to clients for a variety of administrative fiduciary services, which services may relate to an advisory account. PTC's IRA custodian and trustee services and related fees are established under a separate engagement between the client and PTC.

IARs are permitted to engage in certain LPL-approved business activities other than the provision of brokerage and advisory services through LPL, and in certain cases, an IAR could receive greater compensation through the outside business than through LPL. An IAR could also be an accountant, real estate agent, tax preparer, lawyer or refer customers to other service providers and receive referral fees, for example. As other examples, an IAR could provide advisory or financial planning services through an independent unaffiliated investment advisory firm, sell insurance through a separate business, or provide third-party administration to retirement plans through a separate firm. If an IAR provides investment services to a retirement plan as a representative of LPL and also provides administration services to the plan through a separate firm, this typically means the IAR is compensated from the plan for the two services. If you engage with an IAR for services separate from LPL, you may wish to discuss with him or her any questions you have about the compensation he or she receives from the engagement.

ITEM 11 CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

Code of Ethics and Personal Trading

LPL has adopted a code of ethics that includes guidelines regarding personal securities transactions of its employees and IARs. The code of ethics permits LPL employees and IARs to invest for their own personal accounts in the same securities that LPL and IARs purchase for clients in program accounts. This presents a conflict of interest because trading by an employee or IAR in a personal securities account in the same security on or about the same time as trading by a client can disadvantage the client. LPL addresses this conflict of interest by requiring in its code of ethics that LPL employees and IARs report certain personal securities transactions and holdings to LPL. LPL has procedures to review personal trading accounts for front-running. In addition, employees in LPL's Research Department are required to obtain pre-clearance prior to purchasing certain securities for a personal account. Employees and IARs are also required to obtain pre-approval for investments in private placements and initial public offerings. A copy of the code of ethics is available to clients or prospective clients upon request and is available on LPL's website www.lpl.com.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

LPL's parent company, LPL Financial Holdings Inc., is a publicly traded company. LPL does not permit its IARs to recommend or solicit orders of LPL Financial Holdings Inc. stock. However, LPL or an IAR may recommend or purchase for clients a mutual fund or ETF that holds LPL Financial Holdings Inc. stock as an underlying investment, for example, an ETF that seeks to replicate the performance of an investment services index that includes LPL Financial Holdings Inc.

Client should understand that LPL and IAR perform advisory and/or brokerage services for various other clients, and that LPL and IAR may give advice or take actions for those other clients that differ from the advice given to the client. The timing or nature of any action taken for the account may also be different.

ITEM 12 BROKERAGE PRACTICES

LPL does not receive research or other products or services other than execution from a broker-dealer or third party in connection with client securities transactions ("soft dollar benefits"). LPL does not consider, in selecting or recommending broker-dealers, whether LPL or a related person of LPL receives client referrals from a broker-dealer or third party. Within the BWP, LPL also does not integrate LPL's brokerage services, and Financial Institutions, in most cases, direct trades third party broker-dealers.

ITEM 13 REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

The Financial Institution is responsible for meeting with Clients and performing reviews of the investment allocation for Client accounts.

The Financial Institution receives Clients' performance reports on a quarterly basis. The performance reports may then be forwarded by the Financial Institution to their respective Clients

ITEM 14 CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Client Referrals

There are no client referral programs in place within BWP.

Other Compensation

LPL and LPL employees receive additional compensation from product sponsors. However, such compensation may not be tied to the sales of any products. Compensation may include such items as gifts valued at less than $100 annually, an occasional dinner or ticket to a sporting event. Product sponsors also pay for, or reimburse LPL for the costs associated with, education or training events that are attended by LPL employees and for LPL-sponsored conferences and events.

ITEM 15 CUSTODY

Within BWP, LPL does not currently custody the assets for any Financial Institution or their Clients. Assets are maintained at a custodian other than LPL.

ITEM 16 INVESTMENT DISCRETION

LPL takes investment discretion to the extent necessary to implement the trading instructions of the Financial Institutions that implement through the UMA program.

LPL FINANCIAL FIRM BROCHURE - BANK WEALTH PROGRAM (BWP)

ITEM 17 VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Except as Financial Institution has otherwise instructed LPL, to the extent Financial Institution receives centralized portfolio management services provided by LPL, LPL will vote proxies on the Financial Institution's behalf. LPL has adopted policies and procedures in order for LPL to vote securities in the best interest of its clients, including Financial Institution. LPL has contracted with a third party vendor to make proxy voting recommendations and handle the administrative functions of voting proxies. Although LPL retains authority to vote client proxies, it is LPL's general policy to vote according to the recommendations of the third party vendor. Any exceptions to this general policy are referred to LPL's Research Department, which makes the determination as to how to vote the proxy in accordance with the best interest of the client. A copy of LPL's proxy voting policies is available upon request. Financial Institution may obtain information about how LPL voted with respect to securities held in an Account contacting LPL.

In the case of voluntary corporate actions, LPL intends to follow the instructions provided by the Research Providers unless, in the determination of LPL, such instructions are overtly contrary to a client's best interest or instructions. Prior to making such determination, however, LPL will first determine if it has a conflict of interest with any of the companies involved in the corporate action. If LPL does have a conflict of interest, LPL will follow the instructions provided by the Research Provider without reviewing individual Financial Institution interests.

LPL and the Research Providers are not obligated to render any advice or take any action on behalf of Financial Institution with respect to any legal proceedings, including bankruptcies, involving securities or other investments held in the account, or the issuers thereof. The client retains the right and obligation to take action with respect to legal proceedings relating to securities held in the account.

ITEM 18 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

LPL is a qualified custodian as defined in Rule 206(4)-2, and is therefore not required to include a balance sheet for its most recent financial fiscal year.
